

“Join us to implement technologies shaping the automotive future.”

Savari, a venture funded company to focus on V2X communications for Vehicles is seeking talented and highly motivated Engineering Manager who will be providing overall management direction to multiple projects, establish and enforce project objectives and policies, maintain liaison with the client, monitor and report project financial performance.

We seek to make the world's roadways smarter and safer by deploying advanced wireless sensor technologies and software for V2X environments to support a growing portfolio of intelligent transportation services. With more than 150 man-years of V2X learning and development and 15 million-plus miles per year of public testing, Savari is a leader in V2X technology. Savari is headquartered in Santa Clara, Calif., and has offices in Detroit, Mich., Munich, Germany, Seoul, Korea and Bengaluru, India. The company is comprised of a core team of industry veterans from the automotive, semiconductor, software and telecom industries. To know more about us please log onto www.savari.net.

What will you do?

- Lead a team of Software Engineers and guide them technically to realize project goals
- Assign work to software Engineers in the team and evaluate and manages their performance.
- Support to recruit engineering personnel, technical staffing and project team's formation.
- Supervise engineering deliverables.
- Manage continuing support and provide system metrics for client facing products.
- Present project management backup as required.
- Help translation of business requirements into technical needs and actions.
- Supervise reporting responsibility for software engineers
- Ensure software engineering personnel is suitably trained to perform all job function and suitably use project and software related tools.
- Manage changes to the project scope, project schedule and project costs using appropriate verification techniques.
- Measure & track project performance using appropriate tools and techniques to analyze the successful completion of short and long-term goals.
- Perform risk management to minimize project risks.
- Manage the relationship with the client and all stakeholders.

“Join us to implement technologies shaping the automotive future.”

What will your day look like as an Engineering Manager?

- Work closely with the team to track and help in technical deliveries
- Interact with the clients and internal stakeholders on a regular basis to communicate the project status
- Conduct risk management and change management activities.
- Recruit additional members to augment the team to meet the demands of project(s)
- Creation & maintenance of assigned project schedules.
- Project cost control and reporting i.e. supporting invoicing and revenue recognition processes.
- Effectively communicate with the client including the issue of Project Progress Reports.

What do you need to succeed as an Engineering Manager?

You need degree qualified in an engineering discipline with project management experience of managing major projects across multiple sites & cultural boundaries not limited to below: -

- Strong Project and People Management experience having led teams of 5-10 people.
- Excellent understanding of project management concepts, methodologies, and associated tools.
- Experience leading embedded system projects through the development cycle to a successful conclusion.
- Strong knowledge of Telecom/Networking domain with development experience in either of these domains
- Excellent communication and client interaction skills
- Comfortable working in a Linux Environment and having exposure to debugging tools like gdb, valgrind, gcov etc
- Strong project planning and tracking capability using Microsoft Project & PLM tools.
- Good understanding of various estimation techniques and methodologies.
- Detailed working knowledge of Agile scrum methodologies and continuous S/W integration.
- Strong risk and issues management, causal analysis, and decision analysis/resolution capability.
- Ability to efficiently interface with cross functional teams and customers to successfully negotiate and meet project commitments.
- Excellent interpersonal skills with the ability to efficiently resolve team conflicts & roadblocks.
- Experience working with automotive embedded systems is a plus.
- Experience with Automotive SPICE and/or CMMI Level 3 processes will be added advantage.

“Join us to implement technologies shaping the automotive future.”

What do we offer?

Savari offers a great work environment, challenging career opportunities, professional training, and competitive compensation. You will be a part of the Technical Centre, which houses the Design Studio and the Engineering Centre, is in Bangalore. we are an Equal Opportunity /Affirmative Action employer

To experience about us, please refer below links

Visit us on : www.savari.net

LinkedIn : <https://www.linkedin.com/company/savari-networks/>

Facebook : <https://www.facebook.com/SavariInc/>

Twitter links : https://twitter.com/savari_v2x

If you think that this is the challenge you are looking for, then hit APPLY NOW.